Introductory Course in Special Education

Organised By:
Department of Special Education
Ministry of Education

A 12-week short course grounded in what works in special education.

It is designed for working teachers and anyone who wants to upskill and enhance their specialisation as well as their professional competency in special education.

These specialised modules focus on topics such as supporting students with social, emotional and behavioural difficulties, sensory difficulties, speech and language difficulties, and those relating to supporting students with literacy and numeracy difficulties.

The course is delivered via an interactive face to face learning environment that allows you to actively engage, discuss and reflect within a positive learning community of teachers.

Why upskill with us?

Each module has a specialised focus to help you stay relevant in your current role as a teacher, or prepare you for a shift into a new field of interest in special education.

Course material is continually renewed by a highly qualified team of educators, professionals, and specialists to ensure up-to-date course delivery according to your needs.

We have extensive experience in the various fields of special education and our team of presenters are trained and backed up by the Southeast Asian Ministers of Education Organization Regional Centre for Special Educational Needs (SEAMEO SEN).

JOIN our introductory course and let us help to equip you with practical skills that will prepare you to PROMOTE INCLUSION and PROVIDE A SOLID APPROACH TO TEACHING & LEARNING FOR ALL kinds of learners.
